Dear Friends of the Mandala Center,

Many of us find the holiday season and the end of the year a time when we think about what is truly important in our life. We give thanks for our many joys and blessings. It is a time of reflection.

As I end my first full month at the Mandala Center, I find myself reflecting on what this place means to me. That small seed Anna Wolfe planted in my heart some five years ago continues to grow and blossom. It's grown in ways I never expected; like serving with Karen Brown as co-director of the Mandala Center; like being able to live out a dream long dormant.

It is in this deeply spiritual place of beauty, peace, and inspiration that our unexpectedness is met with fulfillment. As a recent guest commented, "This has been more than I expected and, given my expectations, that's saying something."

The Mandala Center began with Tish Hewitt's dream and continues through the vision and dedication of her daughter Anna Wolfe. It is manifested by those who serve as directors and on the board, and those who have generously given financial support. This vision becomes evident to all who spend time at the Center. Thanks to all of you the Mandala Center continues to live its mission of being "a peaceful place to refresh the mind, renew the spirit, and heal the body."

We are now ready to enter our twentieth year and are excited about the opportunities before us. We invite you to "Join With Us" in continuing the vision.

We thank you in advance for your contribution and support. We hope you will spend time with us on retreat, participating in an offered workshop, or just stopping by for a visit. Through your donations the expectations of many will be made a reality beyond their wildest dreams.

We wish you a wonderful holiday season. May you be blessed beyond your greatest expectations!

With our deepest gratitude,

Tim Sexton
